

We're overhauling the Volunteer Leader Center!

We're updating and reorganizing the files to make it easier to find what you need. We're organizing by task, putting all the materials and information for each task in the same place. See what we've already done at:

<http://chadd.org/Support/CHADD-Volunteers/Current-CHADD-Volunteers/Helpful-Group-Documents/>

We need your help to come up with a better name than Helpful Group Documents. Please click here to send your suggestions through the end of January.

It's that time of year when we need to provide 1099 Tax Statements to any staff or subcontractors you may have paid (more than $600) during 2016. If you have anyone who needs a 1099, please contact Katie Hadlich Katie_Hadlich@CHADD.ORG by

January 31, 2017 and provide the following information:

Name of Vendor/Person

Federal Tax ID / SSN

Address (of Vendor/Person)

Amount Paid

Carla's Corner

Are you looking for science-based ADHD publications?

Do you know a professional, researcher, educator, or adult seeking ADHD science-based studies or articles?

CHADD's National Resource Center on ADHD Library

<http://www.chadd.org/Understanding-ADHD/For-Professionals/NRC-Library.aspx> is a reliable source for scientific and medical evidence-based information on ADHD and related topics. The library has more than 8,000 records of publications about ADHD in its database and is accessible online for the public. As an affiliate member of the National Network of Libraries of Medicine, the NRC Library can use the resources of the large network for interlibrary loan.

The library collection includes:

- A physical library of books, professional magazines, audio visual materials and medical journals at CHADD's national office. This library is open to the public by appointment only.
- A searchable, online collection of books, journal and magazine articles, videos, audiotapes and other materials on ADHD.

For further information about the NRC library or research assistance, email the NRC Librarian at library@chadd.org
