

View this email in your browser

 Share
  Tweet
  Forward

in this issue...

- Is Therapy Using Horses Effective for ADHD?
- Adapting Evidence-Based ADHD Treatment Helps Children Succeed
- CHADD Young Scientist Awards Taking Applications
- Life After High School: Webinar
- ADHD in the News

Is Therapy Using Horses Effective for ADHD?

Equine-assisted therapy is a popular intervention for several disabilities. Can working with horses also be helpful for children with ADHD? The experts are interested in the possibility.

Adapting Evidence-Based ADHD Treatment Helps Children Succeed

Cultural adjustments to evidence-based treatment can improve outcomes for children in Hispanic and Latino families. An Annual International Conference on ADHD presenter says study results are promising.

CHADD Young Scientist Awards Taking Applications

Apply Now

Are you an emerging ADHD researcher, working on a doctoral degree, or will you be completing a doctoral degree in 2016 or later? Do you know or work with someone who is?

Applications for CHADD's Young Scientist Research Awards are now being accepted.

Each Young Scientist Research Award includes an unrestricted $1,000 cash award and expenses paid to attend the 2019 Annual International Conference on ADHD in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Nov. 7-9. Additionally, recipients are recognized at the annual conference and in Attention magazine and on the CHADD website, through social media posts, and in ADHD Weekly. Recipients receive a one-year CHADD professional membership.

The 2019 application forms are available at Young Scientist Awards, under Research on the CHADD website. All required documents are due by May 28, 2018. Submitted research may address any area relevant to ADHD.

CHADD Webinar Presentation

Emerging Young Adults: Preparing for Life After High School
Featuring Judith Bass, CEP
Thursday, March 7 | 2 p.m., ET

Register Now

Graduation from high school is only the beginning of the next adventure. There are many options for the young adult transitioning from high school to career, job placement, and higher education. But where to begin this journey?

Our presenter offers guidance to parents, older teens, and young adults on how they can create a seamless transition into an independent life following high school. Join us to learn more about the options available for young adults with ADHD, including practical strategies to build independence and self-advocacy skills.

Judith S. Bass, CEP, is an internationally recognized expert in the field of college placement for students who learn differently. For the past 19 years, Ms. Bass has provided comprehensive college and post-secondary planning for students with learning differences. Ms. Bass is the current chair of the Commission on Credentialing for AICEP and is a past board member of the Independent Educational Consultants Association. Ms. Bass is a contributing author in the recently published book, Navigating the Transition from High School to College for Students with Disabilities.

The logo for "ADHD in the News" features a stylized orange sunburst icon to the left of the text. "ADHD" is written in a large, bold, blue sans-serif font, while "in the News" is written in a smaller, blue, cursive script font.

- Fetal Nicotine Exposure Tied to Higher Risk for ADHD
- A gene involved in ADHD could be related to addictive substance use
- Saffron Shows Promise as ADHD Treatment
- 7 Evidence-Based Insights About ADHD
- The Dangers of Vaping for Teens with ADHD
- This Thread Explains ADHD In A Way Everyone Should Read

Read these and other articles in the ADHD in the News weekly digest.

Are you struggling to understand what types of treatments are recommended by experts for childhood ADHD? Visit Treatment Overview to learn more about evidence-based treatment for ADHD.

Treatment for ADHD

NRC Website

Facebook

Twitter

Youtube

Instagram

*Copyright © 2019 NRC - A Program of CHADD, All rights reserved.
4601 Presidents Drive, Suite 300
Lanham, MD 20706*

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can subscribe or update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list