

ARE YOU A PARENT OF A TEEN WITH ADHD?

Seeking teenagers with ADHD and their parents to participate in a new research study!

WHAT IS THE GOAL OF THE STUDY?

To see if ADHD symptoms are related to teens' well-being and daily functioning and if teens with ADHD and their parents agree or disagree on the teen's competence in completing difficult tasks in school and at home.

HOW LONG WILL THIS TAKE?

Your time is very important. You and your teenager will complete an online survey which shouldn't take more than 15-20 minutes of your time.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN?

If you allow them to participate in this research and they agree to participate, you and your teenager will be asked to complete a short online survey.

WHY SHOULD MY TEEN AND I PARTICIPATE?

Having an ADHD diagnosis is tough on teenagers and their families. Yet little is known about the experiences of teens with ADHD and those of their parents, and this is important for researchers and providers to understand. Your participation in this study is highly important in understanding more about how these issues impact teenagers with ADHD and their families.

https://coeh.co1.qualtrics.com/ife/form/SV_4HnnRw8JlvxrITl

Parents, scan the QR code or click on the link to see if you are eligible and to get more information about our study.

Principal investigators: Christian Stewart, MS (cmstewart7@uh.edu) and Bradley Smith, PhD (bsmith5@central.uh.edu)

This study has been reviewed by the University of Houston Institutional Review Board (IRB)