Recognizing ADHD In the School Environment

Think about your classroom experience. Take a few minutes to reflect and jot down your thoughts. There are no right or wrong answers—this is about connecting the lesson content to your own teaching practice.

Have you taught a student who showed signs of inattention, hyperactivity, or impulsivity similar to the descriptions in this lesson?

_____

_____

_____

How did those symptoms affect their academic performance, behavior, or relationships with peers?

_____

_____

_____

What strategies did you try—or wish you had tried—to support that student?

_____

_____

_____